

Expanding into palliative care?

5 success factors for value-based palliative care

Post-acute organizations are facing big decisions about how to grow in the coming years.

With the continued expansion of value-based care models, there's no better time than right now to launch a palliative care service line.

95%

of patients with serious illness do not receive palliative care

90 million

Americans live with serious illness

$4,000

How much palliative care can reduce healthcare costs per patient

Here's how organizations can drive palliative care expansion and succeed with value-based contracts.

1

Use a single EHR across all service lines to reduce data entry errors

66%

of provider organizations believe data entry errors contribute significantly to duplicate records

2

Ensure your EHR is certified to support interdisciplinary, patient-centered care Providers must use ONC-certified EHR systems to receive Medicare/Medicaid incentive payments

3

Use population health management tools to stratify high-risk, high-cost patients

85%

of healthcare costs stem from chronic disease care

4

Optimize electronic data sharing to reduce hospital readmissions

$26 billion: annual cost to Medicare for hospital readmissions

5

Measure outcomes and demonstrate value with real-time patient data

80-90% of payer contracts will be value-based within a few years

It's time to make strategic decisions on how to diversify and expand your capabilities.
